

28 Hours Overdue ... RC Pair Towed Home

Two young Redwood City seafarers who had been reported missing aboard a 16-foot trawler cabin cruiser on a trip from Sacramento were found by the Coast Guard late Monday afternoon and their boat was towed to Redwood City some 28 hours overdue.

The two, Connor Schroth, 25, 555 Bereford Ave., owner of the boat, and George Burke, 15, 522 Bereford Ave., a sophomore at Sequoia High School, were none the worse for their experience today after the boat ran aground between Redwood City and San Mateo on the opposite side of the bay.

The pair had left Sacramento at 11:30 a.m. Saturday and had expected to dock at Redwood City at noon Sunday. They ran into trouble Sunday morning, when they had to wait at Carquinez because of the fog. The fog didn't rise until the tide started coming in, and the two had to buck the tide all the way to

San Francisco and on down to the San Mateo Bridge.

Schroth said they got through the San Mateo Bridge all right about 8:30 p.m. Sunday but couldn't find any buoy. The boat then ran aground on the Hayward side of the bay. They sat there for 14 hours before being spotted by a Coast Guard plane. Schroth and Burke signaled to the plane, which went for a Coast Guard boat. The boat towed their cruiser to Redwood City.

There was plenty of food and water aboard the cruiser, Schroth said. He said he figured a search would be made for the boat when they failed to appear on schedule. Schroth and Burke had driven to Sacramento Friday afternoon to get the boat, which Schroth had taken to Sacramento some two months previously.

Schroth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Schroth, Burke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne R. Burke.

A meeting of scouts was held at San Carlos Elementary School last week for general discussion of troop, Scout and Cub problems.

The discussion was led by Asst. Scout Executive Chet E. Wilson and covered the need for greater parent cooperation, means of getting parents to cooperate with the various units, the necessity of closer cooperation between the scouts and for more promotion of Cub Scouts and Scout troops and greater recognition of den chiefs. The problems of leading and training were also discussed.

After the discussion, Scout Executive Edward A. Barrer gave a talk on his recent trip to Europe.

RC Chosen Office Site For Big Plant

Installation of an office for a $2,500,000 national research firm in Redwood City was assured today with the signing of a lease to a lot at Spring and Chestnut Sts. by the Hodges Research and Development Co.

John E. Wickert, Atherton, lecturer, told E. W. (Ned) Butler, chamber of commerce manager, that the lease had been signed by the firm on the building owned by the Ros H. Chamberlain Co.

Wickert thanked the chamber for promotional material which he claimed aided him greatly in selling the Redwood City site to the new firm.

The new firm lists some of the nation's top financial names on its roster of stockholders—names such as Armour, Harriman, Morgan, Guggenheim, Hormel, Hoover and Crocker.

Stock in the concern is being sold only to special persons who have been invited to come into the project. Last week some $1,750,000 had already been subscribed. Minimum investment permitted is $25,000.

Heads of the new firm are Walter Hodges and Artemus L. Gates. Hodges is a former professor at the Harvard Business School who has since been with the American Radiator and Standard Sanitary Co., the Birdseye Frozen Food process and a Montana ranch.

Gates is the former president of the New York Trust Co., and during the war was assistant secretary of navy for air.

The company will operate as a clearing house on research for new private enterprises, and as a consultant to management on a fee basis.

Three projects have already been selected for study. They are liquid heat, aging meat and a new type of mobile refrigeration.

It is understood the Redwood City site will be for a firm laboratory and which possibly 50 scientists will be employed on company projects.

Navy Day Fete Set for Monday

Mayor W. W. Hilton today proclaimed next Monday, Oct. 27, as Navy Day and called upon Redwood City citizens to take part in the observance of the day.

In the proclamation, the mayor stated that Navy Day would be an especially appropriate occasion to honor the veterans of World War II and also to emphasize the importance of maintaining a strong peacetime navy.

The mayor also stated that it was fitting that our citizens be informed and aware of the current aims and activities of the navy.

Community Chest Drive Here Hits Half-Way Mark

The Redwood City Community Chest drive yesterday passed the half-way mark in its drive for $34,233, Chmn. Brooke Halsey reported.

Receipts turned into Chest headquarters, 2332 Broadway, at 10 a.m. showed that $17,150.75 had been donated by the district covered by the Redwood City Chest.

Halsey pointed out, however, that only nine days remain before the campaign ends, and that eight agencies which are seeking Community Chest aid to carry on their activities will be obliged to curtail their programs unless the quota is obtained.

Among the groups deriving funds from the Chest are the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Sequoia Y. M. C. A., Woodside Youth Activities, Present at the meeting were Ed Shockley, J. O. Walsh, L. S. Munnell, P. M. Orfill, H. A. Greaves, C. M. Garrett, Wallace Matlock, LeRoy Nott, Phillip Graves, S. W. Roberts, P. L. Coggeshall, Jim Butler, H. Thompson, E. Armstrong and L. Gibbons.

Stanley Marcus, chairman of the advancement committee, announced that the next District Court of Awards will be held in Redwood City on Friday, Dec. 5.

This Court of Awards will be the climax of the fall program with recognition being given at an impressive Bobcat ceremony for all new Cubs who have joined Cubbing since Oct. 1 of this year.

There will also be a Tenderfoot ceremony to recognize all Scouts who have joined scouting since Oct. 1.

We urge that all units meet their objectives in membership before their date in order to receive the President's Ribbon for 1947.

This Court of Awards will also include awards for merit and Star and Life badges and will be climaxed by the presentation of the Eagle Scout ceremony conducted by the Knights of Danamis, Eagle Scout organization.

The Members of Cub Pack 40 of Redwood City, which is led by Cubmaster Charles A. Crumney, are looking forward to a big winter season, starting with a trip to the San Francisco Zoo.

Wickert thanked the chamber for promotional material which he claimed aided him greatly in selling the Redwood City site to the new firm.

The new firm lists some of the nation's top financial names on its roster of stockholders—names such as Armour, Harriman, Morgan, Guggenheim, Hormel, Hoover and Crocker.

Stock in the concern is being sold only to special persons who have been invited to come into the project. Last week some $1,750,000 had already been subscribed. Minimum investment permitted is $25,000.

County Chest Drive Spurt Reported

Reporting a total of $80,506.29 collected to date, San Mateo County Community Chest officials today advised that, for the first time in the current campaign for funds, total receipts exceed those obtained in last year's drive for a similar number of days.

At a similar time last year, campaign volunteers had collected only $77,359.90 in the county drive, which is $3,146.49 less than that reported today.

The 1947-48 budget of $201,000, however, is larger than that of last year, and the amount collected represents only 40 per cent of the goal to be achieved.

The three district leaders highest in percentage of their quota turned in to date are Mrs. Malcolm G. Paterson, Menlo Park, $5,438.40, 98.8 per cent; Mrs. Theodore Yaley Jr., Bayshore City, $699, 77.5 per cent and Robert W. Weber, Atherton, $4,404, 73.4 per cent.

Redwood City's campaign is run separate from the county drive.

McKinley PTA Pre-School Clinic, San Mateo Preventorium, Catholic Social Service, and the Salvation Army.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Hilda Phillips, campaign secretary, urged the local organizations which are participating in the door-to-door canvass to complete their solicitation and turn the money into headquarters as soon as possible.

Halsey explained that the Redwood City, which is a separate Chest unit from the San Mateo County Chest, also soliciting for funds at this time, does include the Woodside and Emerald Lake areas. He added that the Chest is now analyzing the work of the eight units getting funds to assure the donors that their dollars are being spent.

Cafe Won't Open Again RC City Council Decides

The Lola Cafe, 2303 El Camino Real, which was formerly known as the Two Friends Cafe, will not be reopened, city councilmen ruled Monday night.

Their action, denying a request for a restaurant license, was taken after they received a petition from 35 area residents protesting the proposed reopening.

Mrs. Olivia Nardelli, 1140 Sutter St., San Francisco, had urged the reopening, claiming that if she were given a restaurant license, she would serve hard liquor in the spot and in that way keep down the number of brawls among Negro persons who formerly frequented the spot.

Speaking against granting the license were Ann Fries and Isabel Rodriguez, daughter of the place's owner.

Council also:

Granted the Redwood Cab Co. 90 days in which to fill its fifth and sixth cab permits.

Granted S. W. Voll, 447 Madison Ave., permission to construct a duplex on Lot 7 and part of Lot 6, Block 15, Eagle Hill.

Granted Edgar J. Bauer a restaurant license for the Cozy Corner Restaurant.

Granted Elliott B. and Virginia Jacobson permission to operate a restaurant at 2089 Broadway.

Granted the St. Peter's Episcopal Church Auxiliary permission to conduct a rummage sale Nov. 7 and 8 at the old First National Bank Bldg.

Decided to investigate whether to protest, as San Francisco is doing, the receipt of only 50 per cent of the liquor license fees from the state government. The League of California Cities holds that the city is entitled to 100 per cent of these receipts.

Authorized Councilman H. E. (Rowdy) Holmquist to represent the city at an Oct. 22 session in the San Mateo City Hall.

The meeting was called by the San Mateo council in an effort to have a 55-mile-an-hour Bayshore Hwy. speed limit reduced.

Acknowledged and filed a letter from the Rotary Club urging that the city be taken to clean Redwood Creek.

Referred to the city engineer a letter from Contractor David Holdrege asking that street work at Arden Ct. meet with city approval.

Referred to City Mgr. Ernest Rolison a petition asking that the 200 block of Virginia Ave. be paved.

Referred to Rolison and city engineers a request that A. B. C. D. Lenolt and Arguello St. be paved.

Slated a caucus session for Monday on a method of recovering city money spent on developing Broadway.

According to Committee Chmn. G. M. McIntosh, the committee is giving several prizes which are to be awarded at the Blue and Gold dinner in February; the first prize will go to the Cub in each den with the best den attendance, the second to the Cub with the best parent attendance at pack meetings, the third to the Cub with the most advancement during the year and the fourth to the Cub with the best exhibit at a show which is planned for the future.

At the last regular meeting of the pack a certificate of appreciation was ordered for Mrs. Cirelli in recognition of her services when she was a Den Mother.

At its last regular meeting the members of Troop 160, Redwood City, welcomed three newcomers from Cub Pack 16; Jerry Martin, Barry Anderson and Dick Watson.

The Members of Cub Pack 40 of Redwood City, which is led by Cubmaster Charles A. Crumney, are looking forward to a big winter season, starting with a trip to the San Francisco Zoo.

Wickert thanked the chamber for promotional material which he claimed aided him greatly in selling the Redwood City site to the new firm.

The new firm lists some of the nation's top financial names on its roster of stockholders—names such as Armour, Harriman, Morgan, Guggenheim, Hormel, Hoover and Crocker.

How desert winds help speed your voice across country

Above the desert floor we sometimes use wind-driven generators to supply power for long distance amplifying stations miles away from electric lines. When the wind dies, gas-line motors take over to charge the batteries at these repeater stations that give a "boost" to your voice as it journeys with the speed of light across the country.

"Here is your party" is the phrase our long distance operators are using more often these days. For calls East are going through faster now. To give complete service to the many new telephones we're adding, we must build more "speech highways"—all parts of the telephone system must grow.

It takes new Working Bellers... millions of them... to build buildings and buy equipment needed to meet the demand for more service. They do not come from telephone bills, but from people who put their savings into the business. And to get new working dollars we must sell our services at fair prices which allow us to pay reasonably for the use of their savings.

10 Persons Injured In County Accidents

Two persons, one named Brunk and the other Crunk, suffered minor injuries in two Redwood City automobile accidents Sunday.

The crashes were two of a series in San Mateo County in which 10 were hurt.

George Crunk, 29, 208 Chandler Ave., Fresno, was injured at 11:35 p.m. when a grape truck he was driving and a car driven by Harry Dunn, 50, 433 California St., San Francisco, collided at Bayshore Hwy. and Jefferson Ave.

Police Sgt. Edwin (Pat) Fogarty said a car driven by an unknown person pulled out of Jefferson as Dunn attempted to pass the truck. As Dunn accelerated to avoid a crash, Fogarty continued, the truck and car hit, causing the truck to roll over and spill its vineyard cargo.

Crunk was treated at Redwood Clinic.

Mrs. Aston E. Brunk Jr., 421 Gates St., San Francisco, was treated at Community Hospital for head lacerations after she fell out of a car driven by her husband on El Camino Real at Whipple Ave. Sunday at 7:10 p.m.

Sgt. Fogarty said she leaned against a door handle of the northbound vehicle causing a door to open.

Eight other persons were injured in five accidents in the unincorporated parts of the county, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Mrs. Marylyn Monroe, 22, of 4 Delmar Court, and Michael L. Monroe, 10 1/2 months old, were treated at the Redwood City Clinic for injuries sustained when the car in which they were riding overturned after a collision.

They were passengers in a car driven by Edwin L. Monroe, Redwood City jeweler. Monroe's car was turning from Haven St. in Friendly Acres onto Bayshore Hwy. when it was struck from the rear by

Three Men Freed In Auto Thefts

Police Judge W. H. Thorpe Monday announced that he had freed three men who had been charged with auto theft at a preliminary hearing. He said there was not enough evidence to warrant binding them over to superior court for a trial.

The three are:

Braulio M. Millan, 23, 281 Lambert St., Palo Alto; Severo C. Gutierrez, 22, 855 Villa St., Mountain View; John E. Corinas, 21, Mountain View, general delivery.

They were arrested Oct. 10 after Tony Rondon, 1891 Main St., a cigar store operator, had signed a complaint saying they had taken his Ford coupe.

a sedan driven by Leo Bankowski, 44, a caretaker for the City of Mountain View, who lives at 3241 Fair Oaks Ln., Menlo Park.

The accident occurred Saturday evening and Monroe's car rolled over completely and landed back on its wheels, according to officers.

John C. Clanton, 37, of Downey, his wife, Mrs. Katherine Clanton, 36, and their 2-year-old daughter, Karen, were treated at Mills Memorial Hospital for injuries they sustained in an accident on San Mateo Bridge Saturday evening.

Officers stated that Clanton's car crossed the center lane, collided with a convertible coupe driven by Mrs. S. J. Whiting, 51, of Pleasanton, and skidded into the wall of the bridge.

Patricia Panian, 32, San Francisco, a passenger on a motorcycle driven by DePalma A. Millar, 22, also of San Francisco, was injured when the motorcycle sideswiped a stopped car on Coast Hwy. in Monterey early Sunday morning. She did not require hospital treatment.

The driver of the car was Sanford E. DeBow, 17, of 1985 Eaton Ave., San Carlos, a student at Sequoia High School.

Mrs. Anna Tubeling, 24, of San Francisco, sustained minor injuries when the car driven by Henry A. Tubeling, 42, was involved in a sideswipe collision on Skyline Blvd. near the Crystal Springs Country Club entrance yesterday afternoon.

The CHP reported that Tubeling's car and a sedan driven by Jens J. Kannegaard, 51, San Francisco electrician, collided at the crest of a hill.

Clara Gede, 13, of Pearl City, Hawaii, a student at Mills College, was treated at Palo Alto Hospital for injuries to her left arm. She was a passenger in a coupe driven by Edward N. Patton, 19, of Hollywood, a Stanford University student, when the car collided with another coupe driven by Lee Franklin, 38, of 2923 Louis Rd., Palo Alto. The accident occurred Saturday evening on Bayshore Hwy. near Ringwood Ave., East Palo Alto.

AMBER PLIGHTS HER LOVE

In this scene from the screen version of "Forever Amber" Cornel Wilde, as Bruce Carlton, and Linda Darnell, as Amber, declare their undying love, which is the motivating force in Kathleen Winsor's story. Her best-seller, now ready for showing throughout the country, has been produced on a lavish scale in Technicolor by Twentieth Century-Fox. More than 1,000 craftsmen worked on the film, which was two years in the making, and 100 supporting players and 4,000 extras appear in its 153 episodes.

GARDEN: Greenthumbers Should Avoid Overcrowding

BY ROLLY LANGLEY

It's a progressive person who recognizes mistakes in time to avoid them a second time, and such a one is Mrs. J. Dunn of Palo Alto. "I had a good sized garden this summer," she writes, "but oh, so many mistakes. The worst one was overcrowding. After the first rain I transplanted some seedling flower plants for next spring. I shall not plant so many varieties next summer. I am going in for carnations, as I have more success with them."

A good plan. It's seldom that you get an over-crowded effect with few varieties of flowers, no matter how many you plant. It's more a billowing of blossoms which is most pleasing. Only when you plant a little of this and a bit of that, do you create the illusion of crowding, even though you actually may have less growing.

Mrs. Dunn sprayed Buddleia with nicotine to kill worms or larvae in the buds. Nicotine didn't do the trick, because it's a CONTACT spray. It kills certain insects, the sucking types, when sprayed ON them. These are such as aphids and white flies. But chewing pests must be killed by stomach poisons, or kept out with oil sprays applied during the winter. Calcium or lead arsenate sprays are poisonous in seedlings often used on ornamentals. With the rainy season coming on, a heavier type oil spray—"winter sprays"—and Bordeaux mixture can be applied.

"I planted a fig tree this spring," Mrs. Dunn writes, "just like a switch. I have kept it well watered all summer and it has grown three tall branches straight up over seven feet. I want the tree headed high, so I can get under it. I think if the two side branches are left on they will split away from the trunk when the tree grows larger. I should have pruned them off when the tree was small."

"I have been told by two different parties that they lost a fig tree by pruning it, but I should like to know if you think it will harm the tree if I prune it when it is dormant, and the cut places are properly sealed. All three branches are covered with figs ripe yet."

The best time to prune figs is during the dormant season, and I'm sure the two branches can be removed without danger to the tree if it's done along in January, when the fig is dormant. There will never be in the life of the tree a better time to do the job. By sealing over the cuts with white lead, or regular tree sealing mixtures, the tree won't bleed, and the desired shape can be attained.

Peninsula Cities Hear Police Plan

Representatives of the Redwood City, Menlo Park and Palo Alto police departments recently attended a conference in Alameda to take steps toward the formation of a Juvenile Officers Assn. for Northern California.

The proposed association hopes to combat juvenile delinquency and standardize work in that field. A similar organization has already been formed in the southern part of the state.

The meeting was called by Police Chief George R. Kennedy of Alameda. John Kennedy, delinquency consultant of the California Youth Authority, was named temporary chairman.

Mate's Boss Offers To Assist Jadwiga

Chief Dep. Dist. Atty. A. S. Whitmore said Tuesday that he has received a telegram from the former commanding officer of the husband of Mrs. Jadwiga Curtin offering financial help for her defense.

The telegram was received from Staff Sgt. Terrence C. Conway, who is stationed in Juneau, Alaska. Conway, a former army captain, was George Curtin's commander in Germany at the time Curtin married Jadwiga. Szack, a former member of the Polish underground, Mrs. Curtin is held at the county jail on a charge of robbing a Stanford student and for investigation into the fatal shooting of George Conner, Palo Alto man, early last Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Curtin's companion, Howard Durham, of Redley, who also is charged with robbery, meanwhile has been released from county jail on $500 cash bail. Durham is trying to arrange bail for the 20-year-old Polish war bride.

Scouts Planning Round-up During Month of November

"The month of November has been set as 'Round-Up Month' by Ed Foss of Burlingame, Boy Scout council organization and extension committee chairman, announced Monday.

Scout, Cub and senior units throughout the county have already jumped the gun in the membership drive, attempting to push their unit enrollment figures up to the objectives set in January by the unit leaders.

Goal in the drive, aside from increased Scouting in each unit, is attainment of the coveted President's award ribbon, which will be presented to each unit making its goal by Counsel Philip N. Lillenthal.

Deadline of the "Round-Up Campaign" is Dec. 1, since recognition of the units meeting their objectives will be made at each of the district courts of honor to be held in the Northern District on Thursday, Dec. 4, in the Central District on Wednesday, Dec. 3, and in the Southern District on Friday, Dec. 5.

All Scouts, Cubs and Senior

Scouts enrolled during the "Round-Up" will be given special recognition at these courts of honor and in addition advancement awards will be made of merit badges, and Star, Life and Eagle rank.

Parents desiring information on where their sons may be put in contact with the Scout or Cub unit leaders may get this information by calling one of the three Scout offices: Central District, Burlingame, 3-3666, Southern District, Redwood City, EMerson 6-2197 and Northern District, San Bruno 3162. The Redwood City office is located in the Youth Center at Jefferson and Broadway, and the Burlingame office at 1204 Burlingame Ave. and the Northern District office in the San Bruno Chamber of Commerce.

Councilmen Fail to Vote Zoning Plan

The S&W Fine Foods, Inc., request for rezoning near its present plant on Middlefield Rd. was still going through the city government's jump today after city councilmen Monday night failed to accept a planning commission recommendation and failed to make up their own minds on any other action.

The firm owns a lot at Middlefield Rd. and Manzanita St. which it wants rezoned from second residential to industrial so that a plant can be constructed.

Planning commissioners, who last Monday heard both S&W representatives and residents, had recommended that the first 100 feet of the lot along Middlefield be rezoned to commercial and that the remainder be rezoned to industrial.

Councilman H. E. (Rowdy) Holmquist's motion that the recommendation be followed was not accepted and councilmen heard all over again every bit of testimony which had been presented to the commission.

L. W. Whiteley, 419 Manzanita St. charged commissioners hadn't inspected the area and urged that councilmen postpone a decision until they could be by the site. He objected to plant expansion and to barrels the firm stored on a parking lot.

He also urged that a 50-foot strip all around S&W property be not zoned for industry.

Mrs. Rose Solari said that the present plant shut off sunlight from her property.

Richard Tum Suden, representing Margaret Malvino Middlefield and Manzanita, claimed that the problem was of a human rather than commercial nature. He said the purpose of zoning was to protect homes and that to Redwood City residents a place of employment was of secondary importance.

Adrian Falk, S&W president, stated that some objectors had moved into the area after the plant was in operation, and therefore, must have known what they were getting into.

Although S&W would be willing to work out some arrangement for making any new plant more decorative, he continued, it might be possible object to having 50 feet of its property zoned so that no plant could be built on it. He didn't know if the firm could spare that much of its lot.

Animals Due Here For Stock Show

By truck and by train, prize livestock from states as far east as Iowa and South Dakota will arrive next week for the Grand National Livestock Exposition Nov. 1-9 at the Cow Palace.

Show officials listed 3509 entries of beef cattle and dairy cattle, sheep and swine competing for $77,666 in premiums. Beef cattle make up almost half the total.

The 767 swine entries and 702 sheep set new records for the show. The animals will be housed in three new permanent barns being rushed to completion. Last year tents were utilized because of lack of space under the huge roof of the concrete Cow Palace, home of the exposition.

A rodeo and horse show will be presented in addition to the livestock judging.

Landscape Architects To Attend Meeting

Nine landscape architects from the South Peninsula will attend a general meeting of the Bay Area Assn. of Landscape Architects tomorrow evening at the St. Julian Cafe, 140 Battery St., San Francisco.

Jack Kent, consultant with the San Francisco Planning Commission, will be the speaker. He will discuss the San Francisco city plan.

Landscape architects planning to attend from this area are Allen H. Reid, Geraldine Scott and Kathryn Imlay of Palo Alto; Arthur Cobblestick of Menlo Park; John P. Gibson of Los Gatos; Helen M. Norman and Rodney S. Strauss of Redwood City; and Willa Cloy Carmack and John T. Boucher of San Carlos.

Want a Phone? They're Coming

In two months practically everyone in Redwood City who wants a telephone will have one. This estimate was made this week by E. C. Krase, manager for Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Co. when he addressed the Exchange Club.

By the end of the year the Emerson 6 exchange will be loaded to capacity, he said. Work has already started on a new Redwood City exchange, Emerson 8, which will require enlargement of the telephone company's new building at El Camino Real and Jefferson.

H. E. (Rowdy) Holmquist introduced by Krase and his assistant, Robert Brennan, who showed a motion picture, "Telephone Courtesy."

Before the meeting Krase conducted the club through the new dial telephone plant.

2 Hurt, 2 Held In SM County Accidents

Two persons, one of them a pedestrian, were injured during Monday in automobile accidents in San Mateo County, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Leo F. O'Hara, 54, of San Francisco, was given emergency treatment at Palo Alto Hospital for a fractured ankle and transferred to the Veterans Hospital.

Officers stated that O'Hara was struck by the right front fender of a truck driven by Melvin Montgomery, 37, of San Francisco during the rain shortly after midnight. The accident occurred on Bayshore Hwy. north of Donohue St. East Palo Alto. Montgomery was not cited.

Edwin J. Sekins, 21, of 416 University Ave., Palo Alto, suffered a cut on his nose when the sedan was driving off a shoulder at Bayshore Hwy., south of Millbrae Rd. and rolled into the bay.

Sekins was in Mills Memorial Hospital today for observation. The accident reported that the car was totally smashed.

Raymond B. Hughes, 33-year-old San Francisco salesman, was arrested on a charge of drunken driving after the panel truck he was driving was involved in a head-on collision on Bayshore Hwy. near Briabane, Hughes' truck collided with a car driven by E. Hastings, 33, of San Bruno. Hughes was released from county jail on $100 bail today.

Deputy sheriffs late last night arrested Frank Lewis, a San Francisco musician, and charged him with drunk driving after an accident on Bayshore Hwy. He was released on $100 bail this morning.

Fiesta Group To Obtain Architect

The San Mateo county fiesta committee, after meeting this week with the Board of Supervisors and state officials, decided today to hire immediately an architect who will draw up a master plan for the fiesta's permanent building.

George Lagomarsino, chairman of the fiesta committee, said his committee will meet Oct. 28 to hire the architect.

At last night's meeting, which found all members of the Board of Supervisors in attendance, the committee heard "take it or leave it" offers from the division of architecture, discussed the proposed permanent building.

Both men indicated that the county will have about $150,000 for the building, but suggested that the fiesta committee "take it or leave it" and draw up a master plan for the building before starting construction.

The request was made in a telegram from Red Cross authorities in New Caledonia.

Trans-World Airlines said the child was the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Perry. The Perrys with their son and a nurse boarded the plane at Sydney, Australia, TWA said. The child reported to be suffering from stomach hemorrhages, is to be taken to Baltimore for treatment, the airlines said.

Van Sooy Heads Newsboy Group

Neal Van Sooy, former manager of the Redwood City Tribune and later alumni director at Stanford University, yesterday was elected president of the California Newsboy Foundation at the concluding session of the organization's first annual convention at San Diego.

Van Sooy, now publisher of the Santa Paula Chronicle, succeeds Raymond P. Marx of Los Angeles. Lee M. Merriman of Pasadena was elected first vice president; Frank McGary of San Francisco, second vice president, and Clayton Beaver of Oakland, secretary-treasurer.

James A. Wood, Tribune business manager, attended the convention at San Diego.

The need for better understanding by the public of the school system was stressed Monday by David N. Schutz, managing editor of the Redwood City Tribune, in his talk before the Redwood City Elementary School Teachers Assn. at McKinley School.

Schutz urged that the teachers take upon themselves a responsibility of helping to inform the public of school setup by making available the news as it occurs in their classrooms.

"An uninformed public must try to look behind the iron curtain in attempting to draw conclusions," Schutz said, "and sometimes these conclusions, the products of guesswork, are harmful to those involved."

Approximately 60 members of the teachers' association were present. Ronald Spink, president of the group, presided.

Supervisors Deny Request For Peterson Group Expenses

The county board of supervisors unanimously denied County Executive Frederick Peterson's request for $100 for expenses for his charter study committee.

Supervisor Thomas L. Hickey said that the board had named a charter study committee of its own on the recommendation of the grand jury, and that he did not intend to vote funds for any other committee. Supervisor E. R. McDonald said that the board's committee was willing to meet with any other group to discuss suggestions for revision of the county charter.

Both the grand jury and the survey of the health department recommended that the charter be revised to make it more workable, to abolish the "two-headed" form of government, which resulted in a tug of war between the supervisors and the executive.

The board then tossed the problem of disposal of county garbage in Peterson's lap, after Thomas Hickey, City attorney, asked the board to award his client, Gino Landi, Colma hog rancher, the contract for institutions.

Hatch said that Peterson had advertised for bids for the garbage disposal without authority, and he could do some more work on the problem without authority.

Supervisors Back Proposal For New South-Bay Crossing

The San Mateo County Board of Supervisors this week went on record as favoring a second bay crossing as far south as practicable, in opposition to Oakland's proposal that the new bridge should be built parallel to the old.

The supervisors voted to send a letter to Gov. Earl Warren, asking him to instruct his bridge committee to consider a southern crossing.

Frede Drake, chairman of the county industrial commission, again appealed to the board to endorse his plan for a causeway and bridge which would start at Candlestick Cove south of Hunters Point and cross to Davis St. south of the Oakland Airport.

The supervisors refused to endorse Drake's plan, holding that they were not engineers and thus not qualified to rule on the merits of Drake's proposal.

However, at the insistence of Supervisor Henry W. Edmonds, who phrased the motion, the board voted unanimously to ask the governor to instruct his committee to review Drake's plan and also to consider placing the western terminus of the bridge as far south as practicable.

Drake told the board that by leveling San Bruno mountain, level land for a 5000-acre subdivision would be provided.

This new subdivision would add about $5,000,000 to the county's tax assessment rolls, Drake predicted. The dirt from San Bruno mountain could be used for the construction of the eight-mile causeway, he declared.

Drake attacked the "little crowd across the bay" which was promoting the parallel crossing. He said that Oakland wants to be "the city" of the Bay Area, and "that's what they're trying to do today."

He said that he attended a meeting of the Bay Area Council in an effort to present his plan, but was told that the only matters on the agenda for consideration were the parallel crossing and the Army-Navy plan which calls for the western terminus of the bridge to start at Army St. in San Francisco.

Supervisor Martin A. Poss, agreeing that Drake's plan should go before the governor, said that the supervisors were not engineers and could not pass on the merits of Drake's plan.

"A parallel bridge is not going to help San Mateo County," Supervisor Edmonds chimed in. "It's going to help Oakland, and they're fighting for it. We should fight for what we want."

Edmonds pointed out that in case of air attack a bomb could destroy both bridges if they were built side by side. He suggested that the governor be asked to consider a southern crossing, which was concurred in by Supervisor Edward R. McDonald.

The supervisors also approved a $48 lunch bill which was voted by County Executive Frederick Peterson.

The lunch bill was for 32 persons, 11 of them supervisors and

Hatch said that Peterson had advertised for bids for the garbage disposal without authority, and he could do some more work on the problem without authority.

The board had turned down Landi's bid of offering the county $500 for wet garbage to feed to his hogs, and $205 a year for dry garbage which he would throw on the county dump.

D. E. Sullivan said that the county had no jurisdiction over garbage from Community Hospital as it was located in the city of San Mateo which has the franchise for its disposal.

Bocci said that the county was paying the San Mateo County Scavenger's Assn. to carry away the dry garbage, and getting nothing from the association for the wet garbage which was being fed to hogs.

He threatened to take the argument to court where he said he would test the opinion of D. E. Sullivan, assistant district attorney.

The board signed the $319,999 contract with James Arthur, owner of Arthur Bros. of San Mateo, for the building of the juvenile home and additions to the relief home on the site of the latter west of Belmont.

FORUM LETTER

To the Editor:

The subject of universal military training is soon to be a rather hot issue, HR 4278 will certainly receive a high priority as soon as Congress is back in session; so it behooves us all to give the matter our serious consideration.

The universal military training program has some proponents and a great deal of opposition. Personally I am in favor of it in the form that the present bill proposes it. However, if democracy is to be preserved so we can continue our small step advance to the millennium when mankind shall be ready to live in peace and harmony as brothers, we must be prepared to defend it against those who would destroy it. With that in mind I advance the following skeleton outline of a counter proposal to HR 4278, with the sincere conviction that an unbiased analysis of the plan will reveal its value as well as the fact that the cost of such a program will not exceed present budgetary expenditures for national defense.

1. Compulsory (what a terrible expression to use) educational, vocational or manual training for all our youth, both male and female under 21 years of age, and having no voice in government.

2. Students shall be required during the last four years of their schooling to devote at least four hours per week to ROTC or other educational program, other than the ROTC phase, shall be under non-military administration.

3. ROTC students shall devote two weeks of their annual vacation to ROTC camp training under military supervision and at federal government expense.

4. Upon completion of the educational program in 2 above, all male graduates shall be inducted into the military service for one year of intensive training and to receive only a nominal rate of pay sufficient to meet current and necessary expenses (this in return for the free higher education or training they received). Upon completion of their training period they shall be furnished to the reserves for a period of five years.

5. Upon release and furlough to the reserves they shall be entitled to a three months' refreshment course proper educational institution at federal government expense.

6. Limit the regular army, navy, etc., to numbers sufficient to meet minimum requirements of the U.M. program, plus numbers necessary to meet occupational requirements as a result of World War II.

By the way, not a bad topic for round table discussion for town hall forums.

Dr. Van Deventer Listed As Possible Gans Successor

Another possible candidate for the San Mateo County health director's job was rumored in San Francisco Tuesday to be Dr. W. C. Van Deventer, superintendent of the Hauser Health Home west of Redwood City.

Dr. Van Deventer today refused to comment on whether he would apply for the job which Dr. Charles C. Gans will vacate next February.

He said nobody had made an offer to him and that he was "delightfully surprised" that he would be considered for the position along with Dr. J. C. Geiger, the San Francisco County health director who has said he was definitely interested in the San Mateo County position.

He has not even thought about applying for the examination, Dr. Van Deventer declared. However, he added that there probably were "a lot of people standing by."

County Executive Frederick Peterson meanwhile denied reports which have emanated from Dr. Geiger's office to the effect that county officials here have approached some of Dr. Geiger's subordinates about the position.

"No one has the authority to do that," Peterson declared.

He added that the selection of the new health director would be up to the San Mateo County Health Board, which he said may contact candidates for the job.

"I'm just a figurehead in this thing," Peterson said, reiterating his statement of yesterday of his intention to keep the appointment out of politics. "If I go out and try to get a man—that's politics."

The appointment of a new health director will be made by Peterson, upon recommendation of the health board and given to the board of supervisors for ratification. Peterson will be submitted a list of the top three names of the candidates who have passed a county examination which is expected to be scheduled by the civil service commission at its meeting Friday.

Peterson said that the examination will consist of inspection of the applicant's credentials by a qualified board and oral examination. He said there would be no written examination for the position.

Emerald Lake Group Signs Utility Plan

A petition to the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors asking that a general utilities district be set up in the Emerald Lake area was signed Monday night by registered voters present at the annual meeting of the Highlands Improvement Assn.

The first objective of a utilities district should be a sewer district, the petition stated, on the grounds that the population in the area exceeded 4000, and that soil was such to make septic tanks a health hazard.

Directors of the association were given copies of the petition for further circulation.

Eight Emerald Lake residents were elected to the association board of directors to serve two-year terms. They include A. J. Bullerbeck, Virgil Reed, Frederick Benz, Richard Tum Suden, Louis Petrall, Inalane Snow, D. M. Perham and Henry Holmes.

Peterson was granted permission to consummate a deal with the San Mateo Junior College and the United States Maritime Commission for the use of dock space at Coyote Point by the yacht harbor.

San Carlos AWVS Serves 300 Hours

Since its organization early in September the San Carlos branch of the American Women's Voluntary Service has given about 300 hours to various community service projects. The group met recently at her home on Laurel St.

Working for the tuberculosis center at the hospital and serving at the new organized information desk. Among those present at the October meeting were Mrs. P. N. Van Dyne, Harry W. Mahany, Robert B. Teller, Stanley Fryer, E. R. Armstrong, Lawrence Desmond and Edwin de Curtoli, second and Edwin de Curtoli, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Lester West was announced as a new member.

San Carlos Junior Matrons Celebrate 12th Anniversary

Eerie screams and groans greeted San Carlos Junior Matrons Wednesday, at their regular monthly luncheon meeting. The promised "surprise" was a visitation of unearthly creatures in ghostly garb. They floated confusedly out of the kitchen and into the dining hall to serve highly appreciative Junior Matrons their 12th Annual Birthday luncheon.

Table decorations were directly and devotedly with many garish, with a macabre theme. Carrying a facious inscription on each of the tables surrounding the ghoulies centerpiece were rocks and cacti and small skulls (suggestion of the lowly Irish potato) all mounted on long funeral paths of black crepe paper. Members had come expecting gay and conventional birthday decorations and met the unusual situation of the drab Halloween setting with great amusement. The "ghosts" were really "something out of this world" and not merely "the serving committee."

One creature from the nether world even boasted a luxuriously bedecked hat, replete with feathers, and ears beyond the scope of human man. Party members were reported playing in the bridge tournament by Mrs. Skinner, chairman. Community Chest Chairman, Mrs. J. C. Dutton, thanked her committee; Mrs. E. R. Armstrong, George Dulin, John Fairfield, Richard McGonigal, and Eva Martin.

The club will enter a skit in the forthcoming Chickens' Ball competition in February, with Audrey Justus heading the committee. Her assistants will be Anabelle Mueller, Norma Orth, Lucille Monette and Mary Herndon.

It was announced that the next meeting would be held a week early, on November 12, because of the Thanksgiving holiday. New members were introduced and presented with corsages by Zoe Rinaldi, membership chairman.

News of Commuters

By LOCOMOTIVE BILL
TRANSPORTATION: Last week in a letter to this column Mr. C. C. Lawton made a plea for the monorail type of rapid transit electric railway service. His letter which was a long one and could not be printed in full because of space limitations continues as follows:

"Improvement of public transportation has not been one of the major advancements of our age. In fact we've slipped backward. Most of the electric railways popular in the early 1900s are gone. The interurbans which clicked over the rails at sixty and better were declared old fashioned and buses substituted in an attempt to modernize. And what has been the result? Well let's look at the record.

By actual survey the buses on the Los Angeles to Culver City, Playa Del Rey and Redondo Beach lines have been found to average 19 1/2 miles an hour. From Los Angeles to Whittier to Santa Ana they make 21 miles an hour. The long highway runs as between San Francisco and Los Angeles can increase the overall record to between 32 and 35 miles an hour.

Obviously the answer does not lie in an increased number of buses operating on the already saturated public highway. The overloading of surface routes has slowed down commuter traffic and increased the accident rate.

Those cities with metropolitan traffic must realize that the only way to speed up service and reduce accidents is to deflect a good percentage of the motorized travelers to other lanes. Had the interurban railway lived, it might have helped. Even so, it had its disadvantages: one of these was the fact that it operated on the ground, with the rest of the traffic, making it unsuitable for high speed service so desperately needed. During the past, these demands have been answered in a few sections of the country by elevated or subway railways. By such grade separation it is possible to have fast train service with complete freedom of right of way. However, these systems, too have their disadvantages. Expense is one. It costs from $807,000 to $1,118,000 for a single track mile of elevated; $3,000,000 to $11,000,000 for a single bore mile for subways. And these figures do not include equipment. The recently completed Chicago subway cost a total sum of $6,000,000 a mile.

What about suspended monorails? The bill for this system is estimated at $800,000 per mile of track including stations and rolling stock. This is the type of rapid transit electric railway we need from San Francisco to San Diego when in hell will the people on the Peninsula get this type of rapid transit? Who will start the ball rolling to construct the monorail? It says again when will the public get this type of fast train service?

RECREATION: Loco has discussed this subject many times in this column and has endeavored to emphasize its value in curbing juvenile delinquency. We have spoken of the need for Sequoia High School to fully utilize its recreation facilities stressing the still locked tennis courts and have commented generally on the need for greater recreational opportunities for our youth in Redwood City. Last Thursday at the Palo Alto Kiwanis Club we had the opportunity of hearing Ralph H. Reynolds prominent Stanford Alumnus and sports authority speak on sportsmanship and the value of athletics in curbing juvenile delinquency. Mr. Reynolds declared that it was much better to spend money on recreation to benefit our youth than to spend it on corrective institutions for delinquent boys. He said that every year in this country over 2,300,000 boys never complete their required schooling and thus are deprived of an opportunity to participate in recreational activities and to understand and appreciate the value of good sportsmanship. He asserted that if all boys were taught good sportsmanship through participation in athletics then we might have a different world than we have at present. Good sportsmanship he stated was a real masterpiece of the golden rule that you should treat your fellow man as you yourself would expect to be treated.

PERSONAL: Mrs. Maria Formico is in Palo Alto Hospital recovering from an appendicitis operation. Bert Morgan returned from a six week trip to the East Coast. Gene Hoffman is expected home this week from an extended eastern trip. House Committee of the Commuters Club held their semi-annual barbecue at the George Raubinger estate on Saturday.

Council Works Late But Much Undone

Redwood City city councilmen worked until Monday midnight loading the agenda for future sessions. These items were put on the agenda after failing to get final action last night:

A petition requesting that the 400 block of El Camino St. be paved. A request by Realtor Harry Hoefler for permission to erect a sign at 516 El Camino Real. City Atty. Cuthbert Currie is to study the legal aspects.

A request by M. P. Traver, unofficial mayor of Redwood Village, that the city dog pound be converted into a recreation center rather than be moved. A request that dancing be permitted at DD's Restaurant on El Camino Real.

A request that dancing be permitted at the Five Points Hotel. A report by a council committee which is attempting to purchase an off street parking lot on Perry St. at Commercial Way. A request by M. G. Armejo for a deed to a strip of city land adjoining his property at Valota Rd. and Vera Ave.

Copping Nuts Doesn't Go Here

If you see out-of-towners robbing city trees of nuts, fruit or flowers, holler copper, the city council recommends Monday. Councilman Carl (Ike) Britschgi brought up the matter, saying that last weekend a San Francisco car had stolen olives from city trees at Harrison Ave. and Hudson St. Nearby property owners who had watered the tree, he continued, complained they wanted the olives themselves. City Atty. Cuthbert Currie said that copping olives from city trees was sure against the law, and councilmen would be interested in prosecuting residents who picked olives from city trees the residents took care of. BUT those San Franciscans, that's another story.

Peninsula Playgoer

BY DOROTHY NICHOLS

This is one of those weeks when the playgoer has to choose which and when. Fortunately, two of the productions repeat next weekend. The Bronson Howard play was first produced in 1888 at the Boston Museum (the word theater not being respectable and was one of a series of cheap all purpose productions of American material with spectacular action. The San Mateo production will be stylized for the 1890 period, but not burlesqued. The spirit may be willing and the flesh not so weak, and still it is not possible to see everything that goes on when the theater doors of the Peninsula are all producing at once. Your reporter much regretted missing Millbrae's "Pygmalion," but I have it on the highest authority that it was a good production, the street set exceptional, the accents credible, the leads excellent, especially in the first half of the Shaw comedy, which is more of a series of sketches. "Pygmalion" played to full houses except for the Sunday nights which are an innovation this year. This would seem to be a modern classic well done will draw good audiences, even when the play has been recently presented with stars in San Francisco.

It is certainly reasonable to suppose that the Millbrae players porking on "Pygmalion" would have been doubly interested in the Gertrude Lawrence production, and equally reasonable to doubt that anyone in Millbrae stayed away from San Francisco because of the local performance. Now if those in charge of amateur rights to plays would see the light, the injustice would be removed of holding plays from release because of some possible professional production in a city somewhere near.

It Hazel Robertson, director of the Palo Alto Children's Theater, knows where she is the next few weeks, it will be evidence that one can live a double or triple life. The local actors start touring, taking "Rumpelstiltskin" to Sacramento Oct. 25. Then on the first of November the group plays in the Marin Children's Theater while giving "Alice" on the home grounds. On the eighth of November, "Alice" opens the Children's Theater Assn. series in San Francisco, while "Rumpelstiltskin" is given in Palo Alto.

Ted Marcuse, who had many leading roles at Stanford, is to be in Katharine Cornell's production of "Antony and Cleopatra" which is opening in Buffalo and going to New York about December. He says he would be glad to have a part with one line such as, "Yes, my lord" in such company, but Demetrius has more than that Robert Duke is in the same production.
